Owning Your Own Mission: How not to lose your cool while saving the world)

Wednesday, April 11th 9:00 am – 12:00 pm

Presenter: Sara Close

Tamarack Room

CE: Library Administration

As leaders, we are inundated with the importance of staying true to our mission. But with outside stressors, demands and changing circumstances constantly coming into play, how do you act on your mission without hitting the proverbial wall? The world needs us as our best selves, our best leaders; and as such, we need to learn how to be resilient on our path. This talk and interactive workshop will help you explore and deep dive into three simple shifts that you can make - so that the next time you think “What am I doing with my job / life / organization?!” you can gracefully trust in the process.

Thursday, April 12th 9:30 am – 10:30 pm

Presenter: Carolyn Martin

Madison Room

CE: Technology

Genetics is increasingly becoming a factor in diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of diseases as well as frequently seen in headline news. Librarians working with the public need to be aware of issues surrounding genetics and resources to assist patrons in locating and evaluating sometimes complex and confusing information associated with their health. The session will cover genomic health literacy, provide reliable resources regarding health conditions with a genetic component, privacy, genetic testing, and precision medicine.

From Futuring to Innovation

Thursday, April 12th 9:30 am – 10:30 pm

Presenters: Kit Stephenson, Corey Ffiles

Lewis & Clark Room

CE: Library Administration

Based on the work of Miguel A. Figueroa from the Center for the Future of Libraries at ALA, “From Futuring to Innovation” is a group exercise to help library professionals and advocates connect trends to new innovations for the future of libraries. Using trend cards from ALA, groups select 1 or 2 trends and then consider how those trends affect their community and how they align with library values. Groups then imagine a creative solution that brings together the selected trends and library values in the form of a new service, space, partnership, or program.

MT2Go Selection Committee Meeting

Presenters: Barbara Riebe, Tammie Peterson, Jennifer Wilke

Aspen Room

CE: Library Services to the Public

While teen pop culture programming has become more popular recently, fandom events do not have to be just for teenagers! Libraries can create fun events that bring in families, teens, and even the elusive twenty-somethings. Our discussion will include program ideas, community cooperation, and engaging patron participation through social media.

Playwork in the Library

Thursday, April 12th 1:45 pm – 2:45 pm

Presenter: Martha Furman

CE: Library Services to the Public

ImagineIt is all about the wonder, adventure and exploration that naturally happens during play. In playwork a movement that began in postwar Europe, children's play is self-directed, intrinsically motivated and freely chosen. It is also largely unsupervised. This type of play will look different from other types of play that we offer in our libraries, but offers many critical benefits to children. We will discuss how libraries can include elements of playwork and ensure that the children we serve have opportunities to play freely and build skills by taking risks. Participants will find out how libraries can incorporate elements of playwork in their offerings for children in order to build more capable, competent and connected communities.

Democracy In Action at Your Library!

Thursday, April 12th 1:45 pm – 2:45 pm

Presenters: Lauren McMullen, Sonia Gavin

Madison Room

CE: Library Services to the Public

As connected community conveners, libraries are perfectly positioned to bring legislators together with citizens to listen and learn. What better way to empower citizen voice and participation than through face-to-face conversation and relationships? Please join us to learn how your library can host civic events with state representatives during the interim session, including educational programs, town halls, and more.

Providing Unique Collections

Thursday, April 12th 1:45 pm – 2:45 pm

Presenter: Matt Beckstrom

Lewis & Clark Room

CE: Collection Management Technical Services

Libraries are expanding their collections to include more unique items. These unique collections can cause problems and issues for libraries. This panel discussion will feature librarians who have solved some of these issues. They will discuss their collections, their issues, and lessons they learned. The panel will include librarians from the Lewis & Clark Library, The Missoula Public Library, and ImagineIf Libraries.

Saturday, April 14th 8:15 am – 9:15 am

Presenters: Elizabeth Jonkel, Annie Alger

Tamarack Room

CE: Library Services to the Public

Serving the general public means that, on any given day, a patron's conduct and behavior can be a wild card that disrupts normal library operations and upsets staff and others. Though every situation is different, planning for disruption is possible and success hinges on unity amongst staff and consistency in responding.

Improving Broadband Access--Conversations about E-Rate

Saturday, April 14th 8:15 am – 9:15 am

Presenter: Jennie Stapp

Aspen Room

CE: Technology

The Internet has become a utility in our lives. Having high-speed Internet is critical to the work of all Montana libraries. The E-rate program offers federal funds to make Internet more affordable and to reduce the cost for Internet access for all libraries but it comes with strings attached and barriers in the application process. What are the barriers? What are we losing by not applying for e-rate? Is there a way to reduce the barriers? If so, how? If there isn't a way to reduce or remove barriers, what other options exist for supporting high-speed Internet services? This will be a moderated discussion with a neutral facilitator guiding us in our work.

Standout Social Media Strategies

Saturday, April 14th 8:15 am – 9:15 am

Presenter: Lune Axelsen

Madison Room

CE: Technology

Want to raise the level of discourse in your community? Hook your audience with your library's story? Get inspired at this presentation of proven techniques for killer social media campaigns. Guided by your marketing plan, engage your community in conversations that matter and build lasting relationships with thought provoking content.
